Year	2021-2022
Program name	Traditional day celebration- session on social awareness and mental health.
Name of guest	Dr. V. R. Patel
Date and time	06-09-2021
Description	Sir P.T. Science college arranged an open discussion on social awareness and mental health. The path to understanding mental health challenges for women often starts in adolescence. Discussion carried on how during this period, young girls grapple with societal pressures, body image concerns, and the volatile dynamics of teenage relationships. The onset of hormonal, physical, and emotional transformations during these years can trigger anxiety and depression, further intensified by social media's portrayal of unattainable beauty and success standards. Total 21 students actively participated in program.

Program name	International Women day celebration- Elocution competition and visit Sakhi One Stop Centre at Bhamasha Hall.
Name of guest	Dr. Jalpaben Chaudhary
Date and time	08-03-2022( Whole day)
Description	Sir P.T. Science college arrange Eloquence competition on the challenge of women in morden society, in the 21st century, women empowerment has become a well-known subject. It encompasses various aspects such as economic opportunities, social equality, and personal rights. The empowerment of women aims to uplift their social, economic, and political status, especially for those who have been historically underprivileged. Gender Inequality: Despite progress, gender inequality persists globally. Women continue to face discrimination, limited access to education, and unequal opportunities. In India, for instance, the female population remains disproportionately lower than males, and women are often treated as inferior to men in various contexts. ➤ Challenges Faced by Indian Women: Social Norms and Patriarchy: Traditional norms and patriarchal mindsets still prevail, particularly in rural areas. Legal Frameworks vs. Implementation: While legal frameworks exist to protect women's rights, effective implementation remains a challenge. Ensuring that laws are enforced and justice is served is crucial. Education and Awareness: Access to quality education is essential for women's empowerment. Promoting awareness about women's rights and encouraging education can lead to positive change. Economic Empowerment: Providing economic opportunities, financial literacy, and entrepreneurship support can empower women economically Health and Safety: Addressing health issues, maternal mortality, and violence against women is vital for their well-being. Representation and Leadership: Encouraging women's participation in decision-making processes, politics, and leadership roles is essential for gender equality. 46 girls participated in this program among them Zalak Upadhyay ranked 1st , Priyal Bhatt and Niyati Bhavsar ranked 2nd , Dixi Patel and Shaifali Nathani ranked 3rd
